

Diabetic Foot Master Class
Weston Education Centre,
King's College Hospital, London
Friday 10th June, 2011

This year's Master Class will focus on the increasing burden of amputation. It will discuss how amputations can be prevented but also consider the role of amputation as a positive form of treatment to improve the quality of life in the diabetic and renal patient.

Morning Session:

- How to avoid the 'preventable amputation'
- Treatment of infection
- Revascularisation
- Current management of Charcot's Osteoarthropathy
- Modern methods of pain relief

Live Debate:

- "Amputation should not be readily undertaken in the treatment of the diabetic foot."

Afternoon Session:

- The patient pathway when amputation is regarded as inevitable, including:
 - Rehabilitation of the diabetic and renal patient
 - How life can be improved following amputation.

This conference is free to attend.

For further information or for details of how to register, please contact Christian Pankhurst on:
diabeticfootmasterclass2011@yahoo.com